

OIHS graduates are Prepared for Success in a Global Environment. They:

are 21st century literate and are proficient in reading, writing, listening, and speaking in English and in one or more other language.

analyze and evaluate global issues from multiple perspectives, gather and synthesize relevant information from around the world, and draw conclusions that consider the impact from various viewpoints.

understand how the world's people and institutions are interconnected and know how critical international economic, political, technological, environmental, and social systems operate interdependently across nations and regions.

OIHS graduates are Ready for College. They have successfully:

completed a globally focused course of study, including classes, extracurricular activities, and international travel, that has enabled them to develop interest and demonstrate expertise in a specific world culture or an important international issue.

OIHS graduates are Connected to the World. They:

understand and value the opportunity to work collaboratively with individuals from cultural backgrounds different from their own and can see the world from the perspective of others.

are comfortable and competent in different cultural settings and know how to shift behavior and language to respectfully interact with people from different backgrounds.

understand their responsibility to make ethical decisions and responsible choices, to weigh the consequences of their actions for themselves and others across the globe, and to act toward the development of a more just, peaceful, and sustainable world.

MYP Candidate School

thinkers balanced
inquirers
open-minded principled risk-takers communicatorscarinngknowledgeable reflective

Ogden International High School
1250 W. Erie | Chicago, IL 60642
+1.773.534.0866 | ogdenschool.org

Ogden International High School

Mission and Vision

Ogden International High School (OIHS) focuses on a curriculum that immerses an individual in a rich and safe environment to obtain awareness of world cultures through language, studies, and interactive field experiences to apply skills necessary for global citizenship and competency.

OIHS will prepare students for college and lifelong success in a global society through exceptional learning opportunities that will push them to new heights academically, developmentally and professionally. OIHS students will become creative problem solvers, effective communicators, and tomorrow's leaders.

We envision our school as a community resource, a center for family-focused activities that benefit the entire community. Cooperation, collaboration and commitment are the key ingredients for a successful community and a successful school.

Education Plan

Our program focuses on the needs of all students, integrating the fundamental learning areas, critical thinking skills, and decision-making capabilities to enable students to reach their maximum intellectual potential in our rapidly changing society. Our steadfast academic rigor coupled with a culture of high expectations and a curriculum that focuses on broadening student perspectives and experiences, are the three components on which we base everything.

Leadership

The OIHS team is led by Kenneth M. Stalal, principal of Ogden since 1996. Mr. Stalal is an exceptional, innovative and highly successful school leader. With parent and community input, he and his team developed a vision for the school and established expectations and objectives thus embarking upon a renaissance in teaching, learning and community outreach. The Ogden community has created a cohesive educational continuum where the culture, values and instructional program are aligned.

Curriculum

OIHS has developed a rich, rigorous college preparatory curriculum that prepares students for lifelong success in a highly competitive, global society. It will embed internationalism in all aspects of the educational program. To this end, we will use the Asia Society International Studies Schools Network Graduate Profile and the Middle Years Program framework as the foundation for our school design and our education plan.

